Nationals Wind Up Boston Series, Winning 12-inning Game

THREE STRAIGHT WINS: BOSTON HUMBLED AGAIN

Griffmen Take Twelve-inning Game from Red Sox, Walter Johnson Going on Mound—Frank Laporte Scores Winning Run with Timely Bingle.

By WILLIAM PEET.

Boston, Mass. May 5.—It took twelve ree-wrecking, thrilling innings of seball for the Nationals to crush the Milan dumped a single, and Amsmith rve-wrecking, thrilling innings of innings without being scored upon.

Joe Engel, the young twirler who made a name for himself Saturday by organizing a Boston walking club, was sent right back at the Red Sox gang this afternoon and the kid gave a fine account of himself. He should only have been scored against once. Heart-rending errors by his pals helped the Champs to a couple of markers in the fifth.

Credit to Moclier.

Danny Moeller, more than any other National, with the possible exception Johnson, goes the credit of to-days notance victory, for it was morners justy wallop to the center field fence in the Climbers eighth with a full house in Climbers eighth with a full house in front of him that turned the tide of battle, kicked away Boston's three run margin and put Griff's pennant chasers in the running.

Walter Johnson as a starter of batting rallies is also some starter, for the great pitcher opened the twelting with a crashing single, and scored a lew minutes later what would have been the withing run.

In the matter of safe hits, the blows were evenly matched, collecting eleven safe smashes, while Boston got ten. Off ombat did not lack features. Milan came through with a couple of sensational catches. Henricksen betituting for Duffy Lewis, connected for a quarter of safe slams out of five times up, and Eddie Ainsmith struck out three times, running in the pinches. In one sense the Nationals' victory was a flucky one, but a careful glance at the bux score reveals the informathat Griff's pennant chasers outplay-

After Modler had perished in the Nationals' opener, Milan slammed a pretty double to left field, but was caught napping off second when he look a long lead. Ainsmith fauncel for the third out.

Hark linek alone robbed the Nationals of at least tech runs in the second limins. Al Williams led off with a smokins single to right field. Laporte crashed over to second but Janvrin, who dashed over to take a supposed throw from Cady, scooped up the balk touched the base and doubled up the French man. Morgan biffed a double over theoretic field. By the base in th man. Morgan biffed a double over Hen-ricksen's head, and Shanks flied to Hooper for the third out. Young Henricksen ripped a double to left field in the Red Sox fourth after two had gone, but Gardner died McBride to Williams and there were could not score him. A sharp grounder, Ball to Engle, retired the side. Joe Engel got out of a tight-hole in the seventh, when the first two Red Sox boy's got on the bags. A lucky Griffmen Score Three.

The Nationals knotted the count in the eighth in the following manner: Ray Morgan, first up, hit sharply to Janvrin, who fumbled, and Ray beat the throw to first. Shanks singled to center. McBride flied to Janvrin, the latter making a swell catch after a long run. Germany Schaefer, pinch hitting for Joe Engel, unloaded a clean single to left, filling the bases. Danny Moeller hit the first ball pitched on the nose, sending it shricking to right

"Griff Has the Most Aggressive Club in the East, and Will Be Up There All Summer," Says Ban Johnson's Indicator Handler.

By WILLIAM PEET.

Boston, Mass., May 5.—Umpire Tommy Connolly, familiarly known as the craft of the American League, lives in Natick, Mass., a little village eighteen miles outside of Boston, and Connolly, with his side partner, McGreevey, is handling the Washington-Red Sox series. In speaking of the Nationals, Connolly said to the writer:

Joe, I may send you to the Michigan State League for seasoning."

Tris Speaker and Joe Wood, also Jim McAleer and Mrs. McAleer, are living at the Copley Square Hotel, the hostelry where the Nationals are stopping.

It is noticed that the Washington players have little to say to either Speaker or Wood except to nod when one or the other passes by. There is the keenest kind of rivalry beween the teams, apparently both on and off the field of battle.

could hardly wait for Sunday to roll uround in order that he might hop on a trolley car and ride to Revere Beach, just to get a peek at the Atlanta Beach,

Griff is lucky in having such a capable ball player as Al Williams hauging around. The big catcher jumped into the game Saturday, played first base during half the combat, and made a good job of it Several of Williams' stops were or low-thrown balls and difficult to handle

ALBRIGHT TO WRESTLE.

Theater Friday night. Manager Peck announced last night that he had secured the match, outbidding John Hoffman, the Rochester promoter, for the bout. Albright wrestled fifty-seven minutes with Mike Yokel, only locing when Yokel stunned him by dashing him against the wall. He was unable to go on the mat for the second bout. Albright is said to be one of the fastest #### men in the game, and should make Tur-ner hustle all the way. A referee for bout has not been agred upon as yet.
